Comments from Administration

Dr. Beverly Sparks, Associate Dean for Extension, Georgia Cooperative Extension, University of Georgia Cooperative Extension
“Paul has a strong work ethic and consistently produces high quality work. He is well organized and has well developed leadership skills. Currently he serves as a mentor and role model to many agricultural agents in Georgia and throughout the southeastern United States.”

Tony Roberts, Southwest District Director, University of Georgia Cooperative Extension
“Paul is recognized by his peers, researchers, and university leadership as an agent that demonstrates the qualities that are highly regarded as an extension educator. He is well known and respected across the nation as a solid thinker. His work ethic and goal oriented attitude of service has garnered attention by both his peers as well as clients.”

Keith Lassiter, Past President, Georgia Association of County Agricultural Agents
“Paul is a trust worthy, dedicated, dependable and determined individual with the fortitude and integrity to accomplish most any task. He sees a problem as a challenge to solve and not an excuse to quit. He can excel as an individual or a team player when needed to help our association at the state or national level.”
